Greetings,

Your Society for Marine Mammalogy membership has been activated successfully.

Welcome to the Society for Marine Mammalogy (SMM), thanks for your membership, or renewal, and involvement with the SMM! Our organization is the largest organization of marine mammal professionals and students in the world, and as a member you now have access to the member directory where you can find those professionals and students.

As a member you also have instant, online access to the high-quality journal Marine Mammal Science, the best available compendium of research for the field of marine mammal science.

Additionally, as a member, you can attend and participate in the Biennial Conference on the Biology of Marine Mammals. The next conference, 23rd Biennial, will be in Barcelona, Spain from 9 - 12 December 2019. Please note, in order to receive a member's discounted registration rate, you must sign into the Society for Marine Mammalogy website, which will then pass your current membership credentials to the conference registration portal.

Finally, depending on your level of membership, you are welcome and eligible to participate in Society business and endeavors as a member of any of 11 standing and ad hoc committees, which range from conservation to education to taxonomy - see <http://www.marinemammalscience.org/about-us/committees/> for the list and descriptions of our committees.
